Thank you very much for your email.

As New York State's 57th Governor, I look forward to working together to rebuild our communities and continue to move our great state forward.

Over the past seven years, I have traveled throughout the state and continue to be inspired by the strength, diversity, and perseverance of New Yorkers. I promise to do everything I can, every single day, to create a stronger, safer future for you, our families, and our communities and to make government a force for good once again.

Thank you again for writing and for helping to make New York the beautiful and diverse state that it is. It's my great honor to serve you as we lead the way forward.

Sincerely,

GOVERNOR KATHY HOCHUL
